TIEN UNDER CONSTANT FIRE.

1,500 PEOPLE REPORTED MASSACRED

The American Consulate Has Been Razed to the Ground and Most of the Others Burned—Serious Apprehension in London—In Spite of the Reports the Foreigners May Have Been Able to Protect Themselves—Seymour and the Russians Got Into Pekin Simultaneously—Chinese Do Damrge With Their Guns.

Cheefoo, June 22 —It is officially reported that the bombardment of Tien-Tsin with large guns is raging incessantly.

The foreign consulates have nearly all been burned. The American consulate has been razed to the ground. The Russians occupy the railroad station, but are hard pressed, and reinforcemens are urgently needed. The casualties are heavy. The railroad is open half way to Tien-Tsin.

APPREHENSION IN LONDON.

London, June 22.—Lord Salisbury this morning presided over a meeting of the Cabinet specially summoned to consider the Chinese question. Previous to the meeting the French and Chinese ministers paid long visits to the foreign office. Important developments are expected to follow the meeting.

The apprehension for the missionaries who have been cut off at Tien-Tsin has been sharpened by Admiral Kempff's message of last night saying that Tien-Tsin was being bombarded. This messsage contained the first definite announcement of the destruction of the foreign consulates. In spite of a Shanghai dispatch saying that the Chinese used forty-pounders at Tien-Tsin and that 1,500 were massacred, there is no reason to conclude that the colony has been unable to protect itself.

TWO CRUISERS AT SHANGHAI

Washington June 22—The State department has received a cablegram from Consul Goodrow, at Shanghai, announcing the arrival there of two steel cruisers, supposedly British, to protect the town in the event of an attack by an outlying force.

THE JOURNAL HEARS OF IT.

New York, June 22—A Journal special from Hong Kong says that the Chinese have bombarded the foreign settlements at Tien-Tsin. An American gunboat has arrived at Canton.

1500 REPORTED MASSACRED.

London, June 22 —A special from Shanghai says it is reported from Japanese sources that 1500 foreigners have been massacred at Tien-Tsin.

SEYMOUR AND RUSSIANS ENTERED SIMULTANEOUSLY.

London, June 22.—Petit Blue, of Brussels, states that a telegram was received yesterday by an important Brussels firm from China, saying that Seymour's force and the Russian column entered Pekin simultaneously. The legations were reported intact, and all Belgians were said to be safe.

A Calcutta special says that fourteen transports will carry troops to China from India, and that all except six of them are in port at Calcutta. The Seventh Bengal infantry will probably sail Sunday. The American consul at Chefoo writes that the Nashville from Taku is bringing thirty-three Americans from Pei-Ho.

TO CARE FOR THE WOUNDED.

Yokohama, June 22.—The warship Gurik sailed yesterday for Taku. The Japanese government has arranged to receive and give aid to the wounded of other powers. The Russian wounded have arrived.

A GERMAN CAPTAIN DEAD.

In the bombardment of the Taku forts the German cruiser Iltis and the Russian warships Giljak and Kooljetz were badly damaged by the Chinese fire. A merchant steamship belonging to a Chinese company was completely riddled. Her captain, an Englishman, was killed. A British sloop of war escaped destruction through the sudden collapse of a searchlight on one of the forts.

Captain Haas, commander of the German cruiser Iltis, died afterwards as a result of the wounds received.

TEN THOUSAND COOLIES ARE OUT OF WORK.

London, June 22, 3:30 a. m.—The United States gunboat Monocacy was 10 miles up the Pei-Ho river when the international fleet began the bombardment of the Taku forts. According to the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, she was shot through the bows. The correspondent says that Chinese riflemen on both banks of the river attacked her, but unsuccessfully. The scantiness of authentic news with reference to the situation continues. Admiral Kempff's dispatch to the United States Navy Department, announcing that Tien-Tsin is being bombarded, was prominently used by the London papers and commented upon as indicating a change for the worse. The British admirality does not believe the report of the death of Admiral Seymour, commander of the international relief column, and semi-official assurances are given that there seems to be not the slightest evidence to back up such a report. It is pointed out that Admiral Seymour had sufficient supplies to enable him to get to Pekin, or to get back. "We are hopeful," says the semi-official announcement, "that since he has not done the latter, he has not done the former."

The stoppage of trade has thrown 10,000 coolies out of work at Shanghai. All the English ladies at Tien-Tsin left there Saturday by a train for Taku. Shanghai wires that they had some exciting experiences and would not have gotten through, except for the assistance of the Chinese troops. The Boxers made several desperate attempts to attack the train. Taking advantage of the political disorders, bands of robbers are pillaging in the vicinity of Sam Chun. The Chinese authorities are powerless. Precautions have been taken to prevent disturbances in British territory. The explanation given at Hong Kong of the failure of Li Hung Chang to go to Pekin is that there is a rising on the border of the Kow Low Hinterland.

The Singapore correspondent of the Daily Express, telegraphing yesterday, says: "Kang Yu Wei, the reformer, asserts that Russian agents precipitated, if they did not entirely organize, the present disturbances for purely Russian purposes."

THE WAR IN AFRICA.

Hamilton's Column is Preparing to Join Buller--Roberts Says Boers are in Good Frame of Mind.

London, June 22.—Lord Roberts cables from South Africa today: Hamilton's column reached Springs yesterday en route to Heidelburg, where he joins Buller, who was at Bardeckos yesterday. They will open communication between the Transvaalers and the forces in the Orange River colony.

Baden-Powell has found many leading and prominent Boers in a most pacific state of mind. Commandant Steyn and two actively hostile field officers were captured during his absence.

Lord Cecil has captured three hundred rifles.

London, June 22, 4 a. m.—General Buller is pressing his advance. On Wednesday he followed the Johannesburg railroad to Paardekop, thirty-one miles from Standerton. About 300 Boers, single or in small parties, have surrendered. The War Office has issued a list of casualties in engagements around Heilbron, previously undisclosed. Lord Roberts has adopted the Transvaal mining regulations for military administration. A dispatch from Lorenzo Marques, says: The Boers have printed and posted at every corner the following:

"Machadoderp, Monday.—The Paris exhibition has closed and France has declared war against England. Fifty miles of railroad has been destroyed in the Free State, and 30,000 British have surrendered."

Five miles of telegraph between Keomati Poort and Koop Maiden are down and native runners traverse the distance. The Boers continue to assert that they have had successes east of Pretoria.

The Colonial Office publishes a notification by the military governor at Johannesburg, of the stoppage of a check for £40,000, drawn for the French Bank in South Africa, upon the National Bank of the South African Republic, and warning all persons against dealing in the check, as the funds of the National Bank are the property of Her Majesty's government. The Transvaal government, according to the Lorenzo Marques correspondent, is reduced to severe financial strains and is endeavoring to meet the emergency with Treasury bills, but the people refuse to accept them.

A STAB AT THE MIDDLE MEN.

TO GET THEM OUT OF THE BUSINESS.

Cotton Spinners Adopt a Resolution Looking to Handling Their Own Sales--A Committe Appointed.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

Charlotte, June 22—At a meeting of the board of governors of the Southern Cotton Spinners Association last night one of the most radical and important resolutions ever before that body was adopted after a long and open discussion. The resolution is nothing more than a death blow to the yarn commission men if it is adopted. The following important resolution was adopted:

"The board of governors of the Southern Cotton Spinners Association having duly considered the present condition of the market and having been informed from reliable sources that there is no glut in the market, in fact from the best information obtainable, there is only one month's supply on the market, can see no reason for the unusual decline in prices offered for your production.

"The board of governors are of the opinion that this great and sudden decline in prices is unwarranted and not justified by the present condition of trade. Your board of governors are of the opinion that the only way to meet and contend successfully with such a condition is a thorough organization for the mutual protection of your several interests. They would further recommend that you would take into serious consideration the advisability of establishing houses in the principal cities, and under your own management for the purpose of handling your production, and thus do away with the necessity of a middle man, who at present not only handles the productions of your mills, but fixes your prices and makes your contracts. That a committee of five be appointed to consider what measures are necessary to carry his recommendation into effect."

The committee above suggested will be appointed within one or two days by President J. H. McAden, and will leave for the North soon thereafter on this important mission.

TALK OF A DARK HORSE.

Will Messrs. Steele and Wheeler Divide Strength in the Republican Convention?

It has been generally understood that either Mr. W. B. Steele, of High Point, or Mr. Carl Wheeler, of Greensboro, would receive the Republican nomination for sheriff of this county, but it appears that there is a new Richmond in the field—a kind of dark horse Richmond. The talk of another candidate arises from the fact that Messrs. Steele and Wheeler are liable to go into the convention with their strength pretty evenly divided, in which event a third candidate might be easily nominated.

If there is to be a dark horse it will probably be Mr. John A. Hodgin, of this city, who was defeated two years ago for county treasurer. Mr. Hodgin would probably be as acceptable to the powers that be as either of the other gentlemen mentioned.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

For the past three weeks the Police Court has done but little business, being eclipsed by the higher tribunal at the county court house. Offenders learn to behave themselves during the session of the higher court, but occasionally one breaks over.

It was two of the latter class that were before the Mayor yesterday afternoon—Anderson Brooks and Lewis Galloway, both colored. Brooks was charged with assaulting his wife, and the Mayor being satisfied as to his guilt, fined him $5 and costs. The same sentence was imposed upon Lewis Galloway for being drunk and disorderly.

Result of Fine Training.

The most excellent presentation of "She Stoops to Conquer," by the Normal Dramatic Club Wednesday night, was largely due to the faithful and intelligent training given by Mrs. B. C. Sharpe, of the college faculty. Mrs. Sharpe has a great deal of talent along this line and never fails to make a success of an entertainment.

MISSIONARIES MURDERED.

A Cablegram Indicates That All Save Three of Twenty-Four Methodist Missionaries Have Been Killed by Boxers.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Chee-foo, June 22 —Tien-Tsin is being bombarded and the situation at Pekin is very serious. Hopkins, Brown and King, missionaries at Tien-Tsin, have been saved by a gunboat. This is the substance of a cablegram received by Dr. Leonard, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board.

The fact that only three are mentioned as being saved, Dr. Leonard thinks, indicates that the remaining 24 missionaries in Tien-Tsin have been murdered by the Boxers. Among them are many women, including five from the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and members of the rescued men's families.

AMNESTY PROCLAIMED.

The Terms Appear to be of a Very Generous Nature to the Natives of the Philippines—Transportation Offered to Any Parts of the Islands—Thirty Pesos for Each Rifle Turned In.

Washington, June 21—The War Department has made public the following notice of amnesty which was issued by General MacArthur today at Manila:

NOTICE OF AMNESTY.

"By direction of the President of the United States, the undersigned announces amnesty with complete immunity for the past and absolute liberty, of action for the future to all persons who are now or any time since February 4, 1899, have been in insurrection against the United States in either a military or a civil capacity and who shall within the period of ninety days from the date hereof, formally renounce all connection with such insurrection and subscribe to a declaration acknowledging and accepting the sovereignty and authority of the United States in and over the Philippine Islands.

"The privilege herewith published is extended without any reservation whatever excepting that persons who have violated the laws of war during the period of active hostilities are not embraced within the scope of this amnesty. All who desire to take advantage of the terms herewith set fourth are requested to present themselves to the commanding officers of the American troops at the most convenient station, who will receive them with due consideration according to rank; make provision for their immediate wants; prepare the necessary records and thereafter each individual to proceed to any part of the archipelago according to his own wishes, for which purpose the United States will furnish such transportation as may be available either by railway, steamboat or wagon.

"Prominent persons who may desire to confer with the military governor or with the board of American commissioners, will be permitted to visit Manila and will, as far as possible, be provided with transportation for that purpose. In order to mitigate as much as possible consequences resulting from various disturbances which since 1895 have succeeded each other so rapidly and to provide in some measure for destitute soldiers during the transitory period which must inevitably succeed a general peace, the military authorities of the United States will pay thirty pesos to each man who presents a rifle in good condition.

"ARTHUR MACARTHUR,
"Major-General.
"Manila, June 21, 1900."

Death at a Ripe Old Age.

Mr. G. W. Wharton, a well known citizen, died yesterday at his home in the McLeansville section. The funeral took place at Bethel Presbyterian church this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Wharton was over 70 years old and spent his entire in life this county, where he was always regarded as a man of fine character. He was a half brother of Mr. David Wharton, who resides a few miles north of town, and an uncle of Mrs. J. M. Hendrix and Mr. W. L. Wharton, of this city.

Frank H. Edmunds, of General Lee's staff died yesterday at Havana of yellow fever. Mrs. Edmunds is reported to be much better.

RETURN OF THE DELEGATES.

THEY COME BACK IN HIGH GLEE.

Republicans are Enthusiastic Over the National Convention—Why Pritchard Was Not Mentioned for the Vice-Presidential Nomination.

With the exception of Judge Adams, the Guilford contingent to the Republican National Convention returned from Philadelphia this morning. The party was composed of State Chairman Holton, United States Marshal Millikan, and Mr. W. V. Hall, of Greensboro, and Mr. J. Elwood Cox, of High Point. They were accompanied by Sheriff J. T. Redding, Superior Court Clerk Hendrix, Register of Deeds Winslow and Mr. C. E. Blair, of Randolph county, and Collector Duncan and Postmaster Bailey, of Raleigh.

The returning delegates are in good humor with themselves and the remainder of the world. They are all, of course, satisfied with the result of the convention, and say they never enjoyed themselves more than the few days spent in Philadelphia.

The North Carolina delegates went to Philadelphia with the intention of presenting the name of Senator Pritchard for the vice-presidential nomination, but they do not appear disappointed over their failure to get a hearing. Mr. Holton says the convention was intent only on nominating Roosevelt and was in no humor to allow time for any man's friends to give him a complimentary vote. It is said that, had Quay's resolution to restrict the representation of the South in the convention, come up for consideration, Senator Prilchard would have made a speech against it, in which event he could have received the entire Southern vote for the vice-presidential nomination.

Sheriff Redding was the most conspicuous man in the North Carolina delegation and gained more notoriety than any delegate to the convention, with the exception of those of national reputations. When Senator Foraker concluded his speech renominating McKinley some member of each delegation grabbed the banner of his State and carried it to the platform, forming a circle around Mark Hanna. The North Carolina banner was placed in the hands of Sheriff Redding, the tallest man in the convention. The Tar Heel delegates yelled themselves hoarse when they saw their banner proudly waving over the head of their National boss, far and above the banners of all the other States.

Some of the other delegates accused the North Carolina fellows of putting up a job on them, saying the tall sheriff from Randolph was walking on stilts.

Mr. W. V. Hall, of Republican headquarters, brought home with him a souvenir in the shape of a badge worn by one of the delegates from Hawaii.

* * * *

It is recalled as a peculiar coincidence that the last time the Republican National Convention met in Philadelphia—in 1872—a president and vice-president were nominated by acclamation. It was the year of Grant's nomination for a second term. The temporary chairman of the convention was the late Judge Thomas Settle, of Greensboro, who was said to have been one of the finest looking men in the convention hall His speech in taking the chair is spoken of as a most eloquent effort.

Mr. Cobb's Removal to Richmond.

It is reported that Mr. H. W. Cobb, who has resided in Danville for the past two or or three years, is to move to Richmond at an early date. Mr. Cobb is superintendent of the leaf department of the Continental Tobacco Company, and if he goes to Richmond it will probably be on account of a promotion to a higher position.

His friends in this city have hoped that the next move he made would be back to Greensporo. His excellent business judgment and enterprise make him a valuable acquisition to any town.

Gen. Jos. Wheeler was at the War Department yesterday arranging for the assumption of command for the Department of the Lakes. He will enter upon the discharge of his new duties Monday morning.

SEABOARD'S EYES STILL OPEN.

COMING TO GREENSBORO SOME DAY.

A Fusion Magistrate Who Ought to be Impeached—Not Many North Carolinians Will go to Paris—Loyalty and Devotion of the Students of the State Normal. Negroes Claim That Great numbers of Their Race are Leaving the State.

Special Correspondence to the Telegram.

Raleigh, June 22—A Democrat speaking yesterday about the lukewarmness of some of the party as regards the amendment and said that it was like water upon the fire of those who are so zealous, and who ceaselessly think about the amendment. There are certainly sharp contrasts in this matter, while the great majority of the Democrats are heart and soul for the amendment, there are some who want to argue and look at the matter from any point of view—political entomologists, so to speak. Republicans make boasts of Democratic disaffection. Within twenty-four hours H. L. Grant, clerk of the Federal Court, was heard to boast of it in Greene county. He some time ago declared there was a great deal of it in Wayne.

One of the interesting legal questions is how to be rid of a magistrate who does things no citizen, much-less a justice of the peace, should do. This particular magistrate after a spree in which he made public trips with abandoned women, took one of them away. In 72 hours he returned and the next day, having consumed three or four quarts of whiskey, it is thought for the purpose of taking his life, came very near dying. This magistrate got his name on the legislative list of magistrates by putting it there while clerk to the committee. He was instigated by a legislative committee and a republican lawyer pulled him through. The fusionists continued him. He had many years before been arrested for embezzling State funds while some sort of an official in the capital during the old republican regime. Only four years ago he drafted a bill to legalize cockfighting here by suspending the opration of the law against cruelty to animals. No doubt if one were to go to this man in his serious moments and ask him the question whether he ought to be a justice of the peace he would reply "no." And yet one hears the question asked many times daily, "Will he continue in office as a magistrate?" Upon inquiry as to how he could be ousted it was said in reply that it could be done only upon trial; something quite like an impeachment proceeding. It is a case of public interest, because such a case may occur anywhere, and hence this consideration of it in the abstract.

George A. Mebane has secured a grant of the bed of the South Yadkin river for a distance of about 7 miles, along by the great Cooleemee cotton mills. It is of course for the water power. The tract thus entered is 527 chains long and 2 chains wide—in other words the river.

It is said that very few North Carolinians will go to Paris this year. Of course an exposition is the world boiled down, but then one doesn't care to be robbed while seeing it. Such dreadful tales of extortion and swindling in a legalized way as come from Paris are calculated to keep people away.

The Seaboard Air Line haven't abandoned the idea of getting to Greensboro by way of Mr. Petty's road. Some of these fine days it will get in.

The loyalty and devotion of the students of the State Normal and Industrial College to their alma mater is really something beautiful and touching to see. It is said to be a fact that if there were accommodations for them there would be 1,000 at this college, but it appears that the limit is fixed at something like 450.

Work on the Raney Memorial Library here has gone on with marked slowness. It is said that the contractor's reason is the delay in procuring certain materials. When the latter did arrive they were not the proper sizes. Much remains to be done. The original plan was to have the library open by May 1.

The State charters the Carolina Manufacturing Company at High Point, capital $10,000, W. H. Ragan and others owners. It is to make cotton goods.

The negroes are claiming that great numbers of their race are leaving the State. The government and State authorities say there are complaints of scarcity of farm laborers. If the matter be looked into a little it will be seen that the negro population increases, despite the emigration and that the latter is really small. It is safe to say that the increase of negro population is at least 10,000 a year. It is equally safe to moke the estimate that not 4,000 negroes leave the State annually. There has never been but one large emigration. That was in 1879-80 and "Peg leg" Williams said that about 30,000 negroes left. The scarcity of farm laborers is due to the flocking of negroes to towns and of white persons from the country to cotton mills and to the towns too.

The official copies of the constitutional amendment are being rapidly sent to the yarious counties. It is heavy work, as there are 200,000 copies, and a considerable force of clerks have it in hand.

The Navy Department has issued a general order under the terms of the last appropriation act, increasing the pay of naval officers on shore in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippine Islands, Hawaii and Alaska, by 10 per cent,, and of enlisted men of the marine corps ashore at those places 20 per cent. said increase to be computed from May 26th last.

Reports show that over fifteen hundred lives have been saved through the use of One Minute Cough Cure. Most of these were cases of grippe, croup, asthma, whooping cough, bronchitis and pneumonia. Its early use prevents consumption. Howard Gardner. tf.

Unless food is digested quickly it will ferment and irritate the stomach. After each meal take a teaspoonful of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and will allow you to eat all you need of what you like. It never fails to cure the worst cases of dyspepsia. It is pleasant to take. Howard Gardner.

If your watch won't run, you have a talk with the watchmaker. If you are in physical distress you call a physician. If your house is outwardly rusty, a painter will brighten it. It's a case of every man to his own trade and then your work will be well done. A watchmaker cannot mend impaired health; nor can a physician set the wheels of a broken watch in motion. No more can every man fit glasses or remedy eye ailments successfully. See Drs. Moore, 112 E. Market street.

Small in size and great in results are DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills that cleanse the liver and bowels. They do not gripe. Howard Gardner.

NOMINATIONS CREATED NO STIR.

CONVENTION EXHAUSTS ENTHUSIASM

Republicans Claiming Everything, Even Virginia and North Carolina--If "Harmony" Can be Restored in Virginia and the Amendment Defeated These States Will go Into the Republican Column.

Special Despatch to the Telegram.

Washington, June 22.—The adjournment of the Philadelphia convention has brought a large number of politicians to Washington, mostly delegates, and Senators and Congressmen who are on the way to their homes from Philadelphia. Shortly after the President's renomination was announced yesterday he was the recipient of many telegrams from prominent Republicans, and there were also some callers at the White House to congratulate him. The President received the personal visitors cordially. Among those who sent telegrams were Roosevelt, the nominee for Vice-President, Senator Hanna, Senator Pritchard, and many others.

The news of the nomination of McKinley and Roosevelt was received with very little or no excitement, the result being practically known early in advance of the nominations. About the various newspaper offices, and places where bulletins were displayed, there were not more than half a dozen persons assembled, and the announcements were received quietly without even a ripple of applause.

Last night many delegates arrived in Washington, and they reported that the convention was more enthusiastic over Roosevelt, apparently, than over the head of the ticket. One delegate said that if things had been different, that Roosevelt would have been nominated for the Presidency with a rush. Roosevelt, he stated, seemed to be in the minds of the delegates, first, last and all the time.

Last night two receptions were held at the White House, one in honor of the Homeopathists, who had been holding a meeting in Washington, and the other to the Ohio delegates to the Republican National convention. At the latter reception much enthusiasm was displayed.

Many Southern people are passing through Washington northward on their way to different northern summer resorts to spend the hot season. Among those who passed through the city yesterday was Miss Ida Hubbard, a young lady of Tampa Florida; Mr. J. L. McLaurin, Jr., of South Carolina, son of Senator McLaurin; Mr. B. Maus and wife, of Canton, Mississippi, and R. L. Wernick of South Carolina.

A delegate in the city the other day from North Carolina stated that the Republicans were making an active campaign in North Carolina to defeat the proposed amendment. He stated that if the amendment is defeated McKinley will carry the State by a large majority, so that a vote on the amendment is really a forerunner of the campaign in next November. He conceded that if the amendment is adopted, and Aycock is elected Governor, there will be no use of Hanna spending money on North Carolina this year, as the State would be certain for Bryan.

Virginia delegates say that the Republicans of that State are preparing to make an active canvass for McKinley, and that there are negotiations on foot to restore harmony in the Republican party in Virginia, and to give McKinley a good vote in the State. They profess to believe that if harmony is effected that he may stand a chance of carrying Virginia, and point to the close votes in the Blaine-Cleveland campaign, and Harrison-Cleveland campaign, as proof that the State is really closer than it has been for several years past, and they say that it is only Republican division that has enabled the Democracy to pile up such heavy majorities in the State. They say that if they can restore harmony in the party that several Congressional districts in Virginia can be rendered doubtful, and that the Ninth and Tenth will be surely Republican.

It is needless to say that neither the Virginia nor North Carolina Democrats are alarmed at these optimistic predictions of the Republicans.

North Carolina people coming to Washington predict the election of Hon. Claude Kitchin to Congress to succeed Representative White.

TO KEEP OFF THE RAIN.

THINK OF PAYING $300 FOR AN UMBRELLA.

Yet Some People Who Have Plenty of Money Are Just Foolish Enough to Pay That Amount and Even More.

You can buy an umbrella for fifty cents or you may pay $50 or a great deal more for one if you wish to. In one retail stock in New York the umbrellas range in price from $5 up to hundreds of dollars apiece. Here for $5 may be bought a silk umbrella with a natural wood handle. Umbrellas of this sort for men and women range in price up to $12.50. Above that price the value of the umbrella depends upon the mountings, which are made of many materials and in very great variety. Some of them are comparatively inexpensive and some very costly.

Of the more costly umbrellas, some are made for men's use, the greater number of them for women's use. There are, of course, handles in many forms of gold and silver, and these at all sorts of prices—$15, $20, $25, and $30, and on up. For instance, one mounting with gold top might cost $24; mountings of gold, or silver enamel might cost $19. One gold mounting with platinum ornamentation cost $70. In fact, umbrellas with mountings of gold or silver may be bought in one form and another at practically any price. A man's umbrella with a handle of stained ivory, carved, is valued at $50. Another umbrella with a Malacca handle and mounting of silver and stained ivory costs $34.

A woman's umbrella, the handle of which is mounted with gold and enamel and set with a large garnet, costs $150. The price of one mounted with a head of gold set with a large amethyst is $340. The amethyst in this handle is set in a rim of gold which is hinged on one side and held down by a spring on the other. The end of the gold handle is hollowed out, forming a box of which the amethyst serves as the lid, in which might be carried bon-bons, or whatever else might be desired.

Umbrella mountings are now made in very considerable variety of gun metal, and many of these heads are set with diamonds. A gun-metal umbrella handle may be in the form of a little ball, or globe, with a belt formed of a single line of small diamonds running around it, this belt encircling the globe in some cases in a horizontal line, and in others diagonally. Some of these gun-metal heads are sprinkled over with diamonds, more or less closely set, these diamonds being sometimes of uniform size and sometimes of different sizes. Sometimes the diamonds are set in the metal in some sort of design; as a little horseshoe made of tiny diamonds, this being the handle's only ornament. Gun-metal mountings are made in various other shapes, as well as in the spherical form. It might seem that a diamond-studded umbrella handle would be a very elaborate appearing affair, but as a matter of fact, many of them are at once simple and beautiful. Umbrellas with gun-metal mountings, most of them, if not all, with some sort of diamond ornamentation, sell from $14.50 to $240 each.

There are umbrellas with handles of rock crystal, cut in various forms; there are mountings of jade; there are mountings in whole or in part of various fine minerals; there are mountings of rhinoceros horn; and the combinations of materials used are many. Here, for example, is an umbrella mounting that presents a handle of shark skin and gold, with a sapphire in the end of it, this umbrella costing $275; here is an umbrella with a handle of jade, with diamond and amethyst ornamentation, price $165; and here with a Malacca stick, mounted with stained ivory and jade, with a band of Russian enamel, for $62.

Whatever their means may be, not very many people pay more than $30 for an umbrella for ordinary use; by far the greater number of those sold at higher prices are bought to give to some one as a present. The sale of these costly umbrellas is, of course, comparatively limited, but they are in demand, and they may be found in stock in mountings of hundreds of varities, with new things all the time being added.

CANCER IS NOT INCURABLE

Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy. Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will come in its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic, flesh-destroying plasters. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisonous, effete matter before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful purifying properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Cancer is not always inherited; your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may develop from a sore or ulcer on your tongue or other part of your body; a slight bruise or hurt, a little pimple on the eyelid, lip or nose, a small lump on the jaw or breast, a harmless looking wart or mole, and other causes so insignificant as to attract little or no attention. If you have an obstinate sore, don't rely upon salves or ointments to cure it—begin with S. S. S. at once; it will cleanse your blood and prevent the formation of cancerous cells.

Impure Blood Invites Disease.

Mrs. R. Shirer, La Plata, Mo., writes: "A small pimple came on my jaw about one inch below the ear on the left side of my face. At first it gave me no trouble, and I did not think it was anything serious until the jaw began to swell and became much inflamed. At the same time the sore began to spread and eat into the flesh, and gave me intense pain. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. I then began the use of S. S. S., and after taking several bottles the Cancer healed, and there is now no sign of the disease. This was two years ago, and I am still enjoying perfect health."

Send for our special book on Cancer; it contains much information that will interest you; it is free.

Write our physicians about your case, and for any advice or information wanted; they have made a life study of Cancer and all blood diseases. We make no charge whatever for this.

THE COTTON SEED OIL MILL.

An exceedingly thoughtful business man of Greensboro calls the Telegram's attention to a paper read before the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' Association assembled at Old Point Comfort on the 14th instant, in which the following arguments were made:

As to the financial end of each mill, that, perhaps, will be largely a question of business management. The business is going to go on. It has become a great staple and has come to stay. Within the next few years it is likely to show a large increase, since new uses are all the while being found for the products; but this is not the serious part of the business. What we are all interested in is, whither are we tending? What is going to be the final end of the rush of new mills in every section of the South? That the business is about to be largely overdone there can be no question.

Already there are in some, probably in many localities, more mills erected and in course of erection than there is raw material to operate them successfully. I am personally convinced, as I ever was of anything, that breakers are ahead; but when and where we will strike them I am unable to prophesy. Sombody has got to shut up shop sooner or later; somebody's mill has got to close its doors before many seasons roll around. The question is, whose mill? I am not an alarmist or a pessimist, but on the contrary I am accredited with being an expansionist; yet, with all that, it seems to me the storm is gathering slowly, and when it does break fourth there will be wrecks and wreckage along the beach. You say, "What is the solution of the situation?"

There are only two or three solutions. One is the voluntary stopping of construction of new mills. This solution is not at all probable. Secondly, the formation of a few companies to take over the business; and lastly, a fight to the finish, and a final gathering together into one or two big combines of the wreckage. One of the latter two courses will, in all probability, be the ultimate outcome of the cotton-oil industry in the South. I am sure it is veering around gradually, if not rapidly, to the survival of the fittest.

The Raleigh Post assumes this pessimistic view to be correct and advises the people of North Carolina to be on their guard lest this business be overdone. While the Post's prudence is commendable, its alarm is, we believe, not well founded. The gentleman who called our attention to this article, and who is in close touch with the cotton mill and kindred industries, thinks that neither of the solutions proposed above is the true one. He thinks rather that the small mills will continue to exist along the lines previously mapped out, filling local fields and selling more directly to the consumer, but that they must equip their plants with additional machinery for utilizing and refining every product and by-product. It is noteworthy that this is the very line of thought being pursued by leading cotton manufacturers of the South.

As to the voluntary stoppage of the construction of new mills, that is altogether reasonble, contrary to what the writer of the above extract thinks. Supply and demand will regulate this. As soon as the mills begin to be unprofitable, people will cease to put their money in them, and as long as they are profitable there is no danger. The author appears to assume that the business will suddenly become unprofitable in a day, and catch the people engaged in it without notice. The argument that more mills will be built than can be used is alike futile. The more mills there are in the field bidding for a limited quantity of seed the higher the product of the mills will be, the old friendly law of supply and demand again entering into play. But the supply of seed as yet is not limited. The cotton crop is increasing every year, and with the anticipated increase of trade in oriental countries, can, and will be, easily doubled.

The second proposition, that a few large companies will have to take over the business, is a danger to the small mills rather than a solution of the author's hypothetical problem. And the third, that there must be a "fight to the finish" and that a few companies will take charge of the wreckage, need never be realized, unless, as is probable, a few larger companies organize for the specific purpose of inaugurating such a fight in order that they may have the chance to take charge of the wreckage and control the field. From all the dangers so darkly portrayed, we believe the small independent mills may steer clear by avoiding putting in larger plants than the local field warrants, by sticking close to and cultivating this field for the more common products, and, as the gentleman previously referred to suggests, increasing their efficiency and scope.

Democrats need not be alarmed at hearing such remarks as Republicans are now making daily regarding Democratic disaffection with the amendment. That is their stock in trade. The claims would be a little more forcible, however, if they would run up some affidavits, for instance like that of Mr. J. A. Crisp, who, though an official three times over in the Republican party, swears to vote for the amendment. As some one has remarked, if their papers could get hold of one such instance, they would spread it to the four winds of earth in the biggest type in the office.

Before the Legislature met this month the Republicans' chief argument was that section five was "onconstitutional," and now it is that, "They knowed it would 'a been onconstitutional, and they went and changed it."

Who pocketed Senator Pritchard's quadrennial aspirations for the second place on the ticket this year?

What the average Republican doesn't know about the constitution was left out of it.

In Harmony.

Charlotte Observer.

The nomination of Theodore Roosevelt brings to mind an interesting bit of political history. The Republican national convention of 1884 met at Chicago on the 3rd of June. The national committee recommended to the convention Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, for temporary chairman. Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, opposed this recommodation by nominating J. R. Lynch, a negro Senator from Mississippi. George William Curtis and Theodore Roosevelt seconded the negro's nomination in telling speeches. When the roll was called Lynch was found to have defeated Clayton. Thus it will be seen that the anti-white supremacy plank and the vice presidential nominee this year harmonize very well indeed.

Woman with a big W was the theme at the annual meeting of the alumnae of the State Normal and Industrial College. Dr. Miriam Bitting-Kennedy, a woman physician of standing and ability, delivered the address and an excellent effort it was. President McIver said he was proud that the Normal was the first college for women in the south to have a woman physician and one of the first in the country.

"What?"

"A dozen blank alibis," repeated the boy. "They sent me over here from Blank & Blank's office, and they said they wanted them in a hurry."

The handful of attorneys and court officials that were in the room began a hearty laugh at the boy's expense, but the court was more considerate for the embarrassment of the youthful seeker after wholesale alibis.

"Well, we don't keep them up here, you know," explained Stein, making a supreme effort to keep a grave face while he "strung" the lad. "But you go down to the clerk's room below here and they will give you all you want of them. YOUTH AND BEAUTY.

Miss McDonald Entertains in Honor of Her Guests.

Miss Queenie McDonald's hospitable home on East Market street was the scene last night of a most delightful social affair, given in honor of Miss Kellett, Miss Tucker and Miss Sydnor.

The parlors were pretty in their decoration of cut flowers, while numbers of Japanese lanterns made the lawn bright and attractive.

Miss Sydnor wore a dainty costume of white organdy over pink silk. Miss Kellett was attractive in light blue silk, white lace and diamonds. Miss Tucker was attired in a pretty gown of organdy over white silk. Miss McDonald, the charming hostess, wore white organdy, with black lace and velvet.

Mrs. Murchison, Mrs. Harden and Miss Alma McDonald served dilicious refreshments.

Miss Linton, of Washington, an extremely talented and delightful elocutionist, very kindly gave several recitations, among them "Hagai" and the "Chariot Race," from Ben Hur, which added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. Her rendition of the "Chariot Race" was incomparably fine.

Among the guests were: Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Whitsett, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson, Miss Linton, of Washington; Miss Mullen, of Raleigh; Misses Lizzie Balsley, Ava Lindley, Sallie Cook, Lillie Poole, Glen Causey, Mary Cator, Marie Roberson, Virginia Brown, Daisy Carraway, and Messrs. Garland Daniel, Z. V. Conyers, John King, A. G. Rankin, J. T. Rankin, Keller, Whitton, John Michaux, C. Van Noppen, Patterson, Mann, P. D. Gold, Lee Cartland, George Vanstory, Will Hughes, W. R. The Cloud.

FACT NOT FICTION

Sanderson of Verbena had twenty acres out in berries. When the June sun turned the fruit juicy and the perfume of the berries hung heavy upon the sweltering air the field was thronged with pickers, who rode out from the village on great hay ricks and back again at night, singing and laughing and scandalizing the neighbors.

Among the noisy pickers was one fellow who kept to himself and who neither whistled nor sang nor called out to the others. This was Daunt Jewlson, of the Becker road. He walked two miles form the north every morning to meet the hay ricks at the village, and no one knew much about him except that he had a small farm laid out in sweet potatoes and peanuts.

Daunt was not a particularly fast picker, and he seemed to dream a good deal. He set the whole company in a roar of laughter one night as he and they stood about the packing sheds looking at the crates of luscious fruit as it was being prepared for shipment.

"I wonder where all them berries are going?" said he pensively. He looked so absurd with his watery blue eyes and his large ears and mouth that everybody roared.

It was the next day that an idea came to him—one of the first of his life. He took his pencil and wrote on the inside of a strawberry box: "I am Daunt Jewlson of the Becker, near South Fork. I wood like to court up with whoever gets these here berries."

Now, little Lena Nelsen, who had been used all her life to wide, melancholy fields, to a sombre fiord, to distant hemlocks and to a house where logs burned on the hearth, was homesick past words where she worked in the flat on North Erie street.

Lena had just set the table for luncheon and moaned over the raised biscuits which were not raised enough and poured the berries out of the box when she came upon Daunt's message. She was obliged to read it over three times before she got the full meaning of it, and first she smiled a little contemptuously and then the tears came into her eyes. No doubt others besides herself were lonesome at times.

She went to bed and dreamed a dream, and it seemed to her that she ran and laughed upon a shore where the waves rolled in, and that a young man ran and leaped beside her, and that when the stars came out they went together to some quiet fields, planted with goodly things, and to a cottage which was their home. In the early dawn she awoke to know it for a dream, and she wept homesick tears for the home that was not.

That is how it came about that that evening Lena wrote an impossible little letter and directed it to Daunt Jewlson, of the Becker road, near South Fork.

Well, Daunt wrote and Lena wrote and Daunt wrote, and then one day he took the morning boat over to the city, and, it being Thursday afternoon and Lena's free day, she met him at the pier. They knew each other the first thing, for Daunt wore, as had been arranged, a rose in the band of his hat, and she had blue ribbons and a white dress. She knew where she wanted to go, and led him to the esplanade, and they walked there together, looking at the lake and the people on wheels and the grand carriages and all the throng of the city.

"But I like the lake best over on 'tother side," said Daunt. "I like to run on the sand."

"I know it," remarked Lena.

"You do? How do you know it?"

"O, I have ways of knowing. I dream sometimes."

Daunt gasped. Then he made a confession.

"So do I," he said. "I guess you ain't much different from what I thought you would be."

"You're the same," the girl responded. "I'd have known you without the rose."

Then she told him about the fields of her childhood, and he told her about his house and his peanuts and potatoes. She was intensely interested.

(They knew each other the first thing.)

"I should laugh all the time if I could live in the country like that," said she.

"Then come and laugh all the time," cried Daunt with a wit worthy of a brighter man.

"Some time," said Lena shyly, "perhaps."

"Say yes!" pleaded Daunt, his loneliness making his pale eyes eloquent.

"Yes," breathed Lena—and the wind of the sweet countryside seemed to blow upon her, so that she forgot the pavement beneath her feet, and the throngs of selfish people, and the beating of the hoofs on the drive.—Condensed from Chicago Tribune.

AT THE SHOW.

What Was Heard During a Most Absorbing Scene.

Macauley's Theatre was so crowded the last night of the Julia Arthur engagement that there was no room for the Fool Killer who came late. Down in the parquet was a couple in need of his services. They had been engaged probably twenty hours, and within five minutes everybody in their vicinity knew it. Two young men who think Miss Arthur the greatest as well as the most beautiful English-speaking actress were in front of the loving pair.

Trouble started with the second act, when Miss Arthur swept on the stage gowned in her Cleopatra costume, a vision of perfect loveliness. The audience gasped its admiration and the only male creature that had been engaged since Eden whispered to the cotton-locked damsel beside him: "That's just as you looked last night, Evangeline."

Then followed the scene when Josephine, with all the seductive power of her voice, her beauty, her love and her womanliness, coaxes the sulky Napoleon from his room. The house was scarcely breathing. The two young worshippers were living on Miss Arthur's pleading. The voice of the girl, who had bitten off more love than she could digest secretly, rasped them to earth again.

"Henry," she grated, "that's just as I begged you after we quarreled tonight."

Again came comparative peace until Napoleon began to urge the divorce. Josephine sinks on a sofa overcome. Her husband offers her water. She shrinks from him. "That water is poisoned, Junot. Drink!" thunders the emperor, and Junot drains the glass.

"Would you do that, Evangeline," grunted Henry, turning calf's eyes on her.

"I'd do it if I loved him. I'd drink poison for you, Henry," she whimpered, sentimentally.

"For heaven's sake, young woman, drink it, and drink it quick," he said.

He Guessed Wrong.

Brown—You seem to be a hustler. I saw that life insurance agent go into your house this morning, and in less than half an hour after him came the doctor.

Smith—You're wrong. The doctor came to examine the insurance man's wounds.—Philadelphia Press.

Outlandish.

"Boss," began the knight of the tin-can tribe, "I'se a Boer, an' I wants yer to help me to land in South Africa."

"I'll help you to land on the outside!" blurted the busy cheese merchant.

"Den, boss, I'll be an outlander."

Rapid Development.

"You are in business in Montana?" asked the passenger in the skull cap.

"Yes," said the passenger in the smoking jacket.

"Is business good out there?"

"Yes. In the last two years our plant has increased in size more than 1,000 per cent."

"Great Scott! What was the size of your plant originally?"

"It consisted of a pair of Belgian rabbits."—Chicago Tribune.

The Farewell.

"Good-bye," said the pale, determined man, as his wife flung her arms wildly about his neck, and gave way to a flood of weeping.

"Do not go into unnecessary danger," she cried. "I know you will be brave and return with honors."

And he was gone. He was not off to the war. No; he was a baseball umpire, and he was leaving home for the opening game. — Philadelphia North American.

THE AFGHAN.

Lord Roberts Thought It Advisable That He Be Scrubbed.

The following story on Lord Roberts gained great currency in the British army a few years ago. The dirtiness of the Afghan is proverbial, and it is said that on one occasion General Roberts captured a soldier who was so exceptionally dirty that it was thought necessary, for the safety of the whole camp, that he should be washed. Two genuine Tommy Atkinses were told off for this purpose. They stripped the prisoner and scrubbed at him for two hours with formidable brushes and a large quantity of soft soap. Then they threw down their brushes in disgust and went to their captain.

"What is it, men?"

"Well, sir," they replied, somewhat excitedly, "we've washed that 'ere Afghan chap for two hours, but it does no good. After scrubbing him, sir, until our arms were like to break, blessed if we didn't come upon another suit of clothes!"—Collier's Weekly.

Not Dazzled by Youth.

"Yes," said a rich Oklohoma farmer to G. Lowell Miller yesterday, "I am proud of my girls, and would like to see them comfortably married, and as I have a little money they will not go to their husbands penniless. There's Mary, twenty-five years, and a real good girl. I shall give her $5,000 when she is married. Then comes Bet, who won't see thirty-five again, and I shall give her $10,000; and the man who takes Eliza, who is forty, will have $15,000 with her." G. Lowell, reflecting a moment or so, then inquired: "You haven't one about fifty, have you?"—Oklahoma State Capital.

Maud—Luther is a nice young man.

May—Yes; but Harry wears button shoes.

Mrs. Youngwife—Harry suggests that I give my last summer's gown to the servant girl.

Mrs. Oldum—Is the girl pretty?

Mrs. Youngwife—Yes, rather.

Mrs. Oldum—Then don't do it. He's evidently hunting for an excuse to kiss her in mistake for you.—Philadelphia Press.

Nothing that has ever yet been produced in the way of summer footwear for men will begin to compare for comfort, coolness and durability with shoes made of tan vici kid. If you have never tried shoes made of this material, ask any man who has worn them and you will find him ehthusiastic in their praise. But it is possible to have too much of a good thing and we find ourselves overstocked with certain lines of tan vici shoes. So in order to reduce the surplus, we have cut some fifty pairs of the $3.50, $3.00 and $2.75 grades down to $2.48. You can see the samples of these in our north window the rest of this week and if you are going to need another pair of shoes this summer it will be worth your while to stop and take a look at these. WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSOM, VA., Dec. 21.

I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught have done more for me than anything else.

MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

Didn't Know Bailey.

Philadelphia Record.

A slender, florid-faced man, wearing a very, very long frock coat, was very much in evidence in the lobby of the Aldine. A newspaper man approached him. 'Will you tell me, sir, if you are from North Carolina? asked the reporter. "Yes, suh," he replied, flapping the skirts of his long coat; "I am Bailey, of No'th Car'lina." "Well, sir," said the reporter, "I am also a North Carolina man, and was connected with a paper at Charlotte for several years. Will you tell me what part of the State you are from?" "You say you were connected with a paper in Charlotte, and you don't know me?" "I have not that pleasure, sir." "Well," flapping his skirts, "if you don't know Bailey of North North Carolina, postmaster at Raleigh, suh, you must have dreamed you were a North Carolinian."

Raleigh Post.

We are grateful to our good friend, Hon. David Schenck, president of the Guilford Battle Ground Association, for a kind invitation to attend the Fourteenth Anniversity of the said company on the fourth of July ensuing. These annual occasions at the scene of the conflict which precipitated the surrender of the British at Yorktown and made American independence a certainty, at least until next November, are inspiring as well enjoyable. A most attractive program has been arranged, the orator being no less a personage than the distinguished soldier and author, General M. V. Boynton, and a very large crowd will no doubt be in attendance.

Janus-Face.

Salisbury Truth-Index.

Our brother of the Telegram has a correct description of the demagogue who now disgraces, as far as such a creature can, the good old North State.

Butler has learned the lessons he receives from his father, the Devil, very thoroughly. He has the subtility of Satan as well as the deceit of that king of all evil, which he uses for his own selfish ends. No one who knows Butler will be deceived by him, though he is very plausible.

Our Celebration.

Charlotte News.

Greensboro is preparing for a great time at Guilford battle-ground on the fourth of July. Judge Schenck is said to have the grounds in excellent shape. All the details of the celebration have been arranged. The orator this year is Gen. Boynton, a Federal veteran.

What "Pap" Told Him.

A party of drummers had assembled at a railroad station in a near-by village to wait for a train. One of the drummers were very bald, and the other was guying him about it.

"Well," said the bald one, "there wasn't room for the brains and the hair, and the brains being most numerous pushed the hair away."

A sallow countryman, who was standing near by, put in: "That ain't what pap told me."

"What did he tell you?" asked one of the drummers.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRAH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucuous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure ond so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardrer, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED BY

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. 1 had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.

The three weeks' term of June Superior Court adjourned this afternoon, the entire term having been spent in disposing of the criminal docket. Several State cases were continued until the August term.

This morning the two agents for a picture enlarging establishment, who were fined by the Mayor some time ago for delivering their goods without a license, were convicted and fined. They appealed to the Supreme Court.

Dead Drunk in the Rain.

Just before the noon trains came in today Officer Whittington found the drunkest man he had run across in a long time. He was in a deplorable condition. Unable to stand or walk, he was lying by the railroad track a short distance east of the depot, perfectly oblivious of the downpour of rain. Had he not been discovered in a short while a passing engine would have probably put an end to his existence.

An Important Meeting.

An important meeting of the Greensboro Medical Club will be held in the reading room of the Southern Loan and Trust Company building this evening at 9 o'clock. It is urged that every member be present, as there are matters of importance to be discussed.

The dispatch recently sent out from Macon, Ga., to the effect that Senator Bacon had been poisoned and made ill by eating toadstools, mistaking them for mushrooms, is without foundation, Senator Bacon was then absent from home and has just returned. With the exception of his accident in Washington last winter, he has not been ill from any cause in years and was never in better health than at present.

The Boston Transcript tells of a woman who was so averse to answering the questions of the census enumerator that she moved from one district into another in order to dodge him. The census work had been completed in the district in which she established her new home, and thus she outwitted the government official, though at considerable cost to herself.
